Financial Literacy Program

At JS Bank, we strive to ensure that all current and potential customers are provided with clear, timely and factual information to help them make informed financial decision.

Savings/Bank Accounts

Whether saving for higher education, a new home or your retirement, having clear savings strategies help you prepare for tomorrow, starting today.

Why Save?

Savings play a key role in meeting financial goals. You can use savings to meet both expected and unexpected needs. In case of emergencies and crises, savings enable you to respond immediately and, over time, recover from related loss of income or property.

Debt Management Loans

The world of debt has rules, players and strategies. One of the best things you can do for yourself is to learn how to use debt well. When you borrow money from another person or institution (such as a bank or credit union), the lender expects to be repaid, & usually charges a fee for the use of that money.

Debt is what you owe when you borrow something—cash or tangible goods from someone else, or when you purchase on credit.

Loan refers to a sum of money that a lender gives to a borrower for a certain period of time. The borrower makes a commitment to repay the money with interest.

Credit is the ability to borrow, or the sum available for borrowing. Banks and other financial institutions will approve credit to customers who have a good record of repaying their loans on time.

Default is failure to pay back a loan.

Budgeting

In order to make effective financial decisions, it is important to know and keep track of your income and expenses. With skyrocketing inflation, meeting day-to-day needs and being prepared for unexpected emergencies, is getting trickier day by day. A personal or household budget, even at its most basic, is one of the best tools you can utilize to better managing your money.

Investing

Saving money is half the battle won, the other half is making your money grow. Learn about how to make your money work hard for you, instead of the other way around!

Branchless Banking

Branchless banking can involve: Use of technology, such as payment cards or mobile phones, to identify customers and record transactions electronically and, in some cases, to allow customers to initiate transactions remotely Use of outlets such as post offices and small retailers, that act as agents for financial services providers and that enable customers to perform functions that require their physical presence, such as cash handling and customer due diligence for account opening Offer of at least basic cash deposit and withdrawal in addition to transactional or payment services Backing of a government recognised, deposit-taking institution, such as a formally licensed bank Structuring of the above so that customers can use these banking services on a regular basis (available during normal business hours) and without needing to go to bank branches at all, if that's what they choose Examples of branchless banking technologies available in Pakistan are the internet, automated teller machines (ATMs), debit cards, mobile phones etc. Branchless banking can be used by everyone, regardless of how much money they have in their bank accounts. In order to use these services, it is not mandatory to open a bank account!

Complaint Handling Mechanism

If you are aggrieved with any service or product offered by the bank/MFB, you can lodge complaint at "Complaint Management Unit (CMU)" of respective bank and MFB. The banks have established centralized "Complaint Management System (CMS) which handles complaints received through surface mail, fax, email, website or complaints lodged at banks' call centers. CMU is headed by the senior position which directly report to the Chief Executive Officer of banks/MFB. On receipt of complaint, the respective banks/MFB shall:

1. Send an acknowledgement via SMS, email, recorded line or surface mail confirming the receipt of the complaint and briefly describing complaint process, the time line to resolve or decide the complaint and the contact details for follow up on complaint; and

2. Send interim reply stating expected time during which final reply is provided in form of SMS, emails etc., in case a complaint requires detailed investigation;

Deposit Protection Corporation (DPC) has been set up through promulgation of the Deposit Protection Corporation Act, 2016 (the Act), with an aim to provide protection to small depositors of banks operating in Pakistan.

Consequent upon the commencement of business with effect from June 01, 2018, the DPC, in exercise of its powers under section 6 of the Act, has issued instructions on the mechanism for protecting the depositors of banking companies.
